You know conditions aren't good when Hale meets you at Bert saying "There are 4 boats that are going to race and I'm not one of them." It turned out that 5 boats came out and no rain, but knock over gusts. Sue and Michelle set the course with an offset at the windward mark to avoid traffic jams. The wind was out of the south and then shifted west. There was a new man in #10, much younger than the rest of the racers, who introduced himself as Skip, Scott's grandson. Grandpa later told us that Skip last sailed the Mini 12 15 years ago. Three generations of the Gilson family were in the Marine Room after racing.

After three races with knock down winds the racers called it a day. Boats were seen with masts at a 45 degree angle and at least one took on some water. Instead of an easy winner there was a 3 way tie for first, second and third - all three had the same scores. At the last Race Officer's training that issue was co
